International exercises option

Bayou Caddy, Port Bienville ok'd for anchorage, industry

by JAKE JACOB
International Demolition and Salvage Co. of Port Bienville and Nashville, Tenn., made their intention of becoming a permanent payroll to the county known on Monday, when Wilson Webre, port director, sought concurrence of his supervisors in the sale of some 44.55 acres to the company.

The company, in an agreement dated Oct. 15, 1974, originally signed a lease purchase agreement with the county, port authority, for the purpose of utilizing the land for dismantling and salvage of World War II Liberty Ships.

Now intending to settle into a more diversified role, International exercised its option to purchase the acreage, with 90 percent of its rental payment being applied against the cost price of $4000 per acre.

In making the agreement the county reserved a strip passing along the perimeter of the property for possible construction of an access road to other county owned lands on the north side of the bayou.

Fromherz Engineers of New Orleans, original project engineers, were engaged by the supervisors for the sum of $800, to survey the land and provide plat and legal description of the International holding.

In other matters, the US Corps of Engineers received a pledge of local cooperation from supervisors following their being informed by Webre of their intent to dredge out an anchorage basin 1800 feet inside Bayou Caddy.

The basin, primarily aimed at increasing the value of the harbor to commercial and sports fishermen, will be 8 by 200 by 1200 feet in dimension and be located adjacent to the existing main channel.

Local authorities agreed to permit the Corps to proceed on the dredging of the basin and in exchange agreed to provide all necessary easements and rights of way required for construction and maintenance of the project, and maintain and supply aids to navigation.

The areas involved also include those required for spoil disposal.

The supervisors are also to cover the cost of the project for any expenditures over $2 million, "...and accomplish without cost to the United States such alterations and relocations as are required in sewer, water supply, drainage, and other utility facilities and structures as well as their maintenance.

Abandoning the notes of caution presented the board at their previous session, Webre recommended and

Tire iron-wielding squirrel hunter assaults game warden

By EDGAR PEREZ

A 21-year-old Louisiana man was being held in Hancock County jail under $50,000 bond Monday after he allegedly beat a Mississippi game warden in the head with a tire iron.

Charged with aggravated assault on a police officer is Marc A. Velez of 2528 Garden Dr., Meroux, La.

Suffering severe lacerations of the head following the Sunday incident at Still Point near Pearlinton is C.J. Cameron of Kiln, game warden for the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission.

Cameron was beaten Sunday afternoon as he attempted to arrest Velez and two Louisiana companions, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner.

Velez and the other two men are also charged with hunting squirrels out of season, hunting without a license and possession of squirrels out of season, the sheriff said.

Velez allegedly seized the tire tool and struck Cameron on the head as the warden attempted to confiscate hunting weapons used by the trio from the trunk of their car, Sheriff Ladner reported.

In an ensuing struggle, Cameron struck Velez with a shotgun and was himself struck over the head twice more, the sheriff said.

Cameron apparently brought the situation under control after drawing his revolver, but not before suffering the head wounds which required some 40 stitches, according to the sheriff.

Cameron was treated and released from Hancock General Hospital.

The attack on Cameron was apparently unprovoked, the sheriff said. Deputies reported Velez' two companions attempted to aid Cameron in his struggle.

Officers said Velez is awaiting trial on drug charges in Louisiana.

Cameron also received assistance from nearby hunters, deputies said.

The other two men charged with hunting violations are: Michael A. Muria, 19, 3108 Guerra Dr., Violet, La., and Michael R. Caminita, 21, 8389 Seigan Lane, Apt. 11, Baton Rouge, La.

Stennis International threatened by vandals

by JAKE JACOB

Vandalism at Stennis International Airport is causing serious problems to pilots utilizing the facility and to the county in having to pay for the replacement of runway lights.

The issue surfaced Monday when Supervisor Sam Pernicaro questioned the expenditure of some $638.67, a docketed item for replacement of broken fixtures.

Wilson W. Webre, director, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, under whose auspices the airport is operated, said main damage is being sustained in that area adjacent to the Texas Flat Road where difficulty is experienced in keeping the field under "constant surveillance."

"The vandals are coming over the fences and through the woods..." Webre claimed, adding that such conduct is (Continued on page 5A)

County jail inmate slashes wrists in suicide attempt

By EDGAR PEREZ

A 28-year-old Bay St. Louis man - recently sentenced in Circuit Court here to a aggregate of 15 years in the state prison - attempted suicide in the Hancock County jail Sunday.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said Alex Bennett used the edge of a can to slash his wrists. Bennett was treated for his wounds and released at Hancock General Hospital.

In addition, the hospital prescribed a sedative for Bennett, the sheriff said.

Upon sentencing Bennett in Circuit Court last week, Judge J. Ruble Griffin urged that he be transferred "as soon as humanly possible" to Parchman where regular medical treatment is available.

The judge observed that Bennett appeared in court "in a palsied condition."

Bystander gunned outside US-90 lounge

By EDGAR PEREZ

Bay St. Louis police, Waveland police and the Hancock County sheriff's office this week are investigating the shooting death of a 48-year-old Shoreline Park man outside a US-90 bar on Sunday.

Dead of a gunshot wound to the chest is Joseph Downey of Route 3, Box 354. Charged with manslaughter in connection with his death is Mrs. Donna Nixon, 30, manager of Nixon's Bar at 1200 West US-90, scene of the shooting.

Downey was an uninvolved spectator at a stabbing incident at the bar when he was shot, Chief Douglas Williams of Bay St. Louis police reported.

The Nixon woman also was not involved in the argument and stabbing incident, but had taken a gun away from one of the participants, police said.

According to police, a fight had erupted outside Nixon's Bar (also known as Sip and Taste) between James Sanford, 19, also of 1200 West US-90, and another man, unidentified. Sanford entered the bar, said he had been stabbed twice, secured a .38 caliber revolver from behind the counter and proceeded back outside, police were told.

Mrs. Nixon and her husband, Wayne, then followed Sanford outside, police said. Nixon prevented any further confrontation between the pair while his wife got the gun away from Sanford, according to police.

At that point, police said, Mrs. Nixon, holding the gun, was apparently bumped on the arm by an unidentified red-headed woman, the gun went off and Downey was fatally struck.

A gun found on the ground outside the bar has been sent to the State police crime laboratory in Jackson for analysis, police said.

The case remains under investigation this week as police seek further witnesses to the shooting.

Sanford suffered two stab wounds in the abdomen, but was not seriously injured, police said.

Downey's body was taken to Edmond Fahey Funeral Home, Bay St. Louis. Also participating in the investigation (Continued On Page 6A)

DuPont OK likely as hearings end

By EDGAR PEREZ

Environmental hearings on the proposed DuPont plant at DeLisle being conducted for the past several months by the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission are scheduled to end today.

Commission chairman Joe Stone said during the hearings "this week in Jackson he believes the deep well injection disposal method planned by DuPont is "the lesser of several evils" available to the company.

The commission had granted DuPont a disposal permit in 1976 after a one-day hearing in 1974.

But the Mississippi Supreme Court held that one-day hearing did not meet legal requirements, and ordered the board to open new hearings.

In compliance with the court, the commission has conducted several days of hearings during the past five months.

The commission has indicated it will conclude the hearings Thursday. Some of the court-ordered hearings have been completed in testimony from witnesses (Continued On Page 7A)

HANCOCK WOMEN'S BOWLING LEAGUE AWARDS DINNER

Senior Citizens happenings

By FRED HORN

Due to Monday, Oct. 24, being a federal holiday, Veteran's Day, the Senior Citizens Center will be closed. Activities will resume again on Tuesday, Oct. 25th.

Normally the birthday party for the Senior Citizens takes place on the 4th Monday of every month, therefore the birthday party will take place on Monday the 31st at 1:30 P.M. The recreation event for the day will be a combination birthday and Halloween Party, with special prizes for the most original costume for the ladies and a prize for the Seniors celebrating birthdays in October. Seniors let's make the birthday party a "Friendship Day"; the rules are simple - just come and bring a friend or a neighbor who is 60 years of age and older to sign up for our Recreation Program, so they too can participate in our activities every month.

Look around your neighborhood, perhaps there is an older American Citizen, who may not know about "Our Center" in Bay St. Louis. What a fine deed, to help someone have a less lonely day, or afternoon. It is always so good to just know you care enough to share a chat, and raise a chuckle way up from that depth of loneliness, we have all been in.

There are quite a number of our Senior Citizens who have not signed up for recreation and transportation, so if you are one who has not signed under the new program since July 1st please, please, please, do so as soon as possible. If you don't have transportation or can't get down go to the center to sign up for the new program because of illness or a physical handicap, it is real easy just to give us a call at 467-9292 and ask for Jim Hoda or Fred Horn. We will make sure someone will either pick you up or come out to your home.

For all of you Seniors, who have just made 60, or soon will do so, or those of you out there, who have just been putting it off until tomorrow, well tomorrow is here today, just come on down to the Center on the Old Spanish Trail, you really can't miss it, just look behind the Police Station and Fire Department, and that's where we are.

SENIOR

CITIZEN'S CLUB

The members of the Senior Citizens Clubs, volunteer thousands of hours to help the Seniors who are incapacitated from time to time, plus volunteering, wherever they are needed to help the Senior Citizens Centers in every county of every state throughout the United States.

Senior Citizens the parking area in front of the Center is open, it is optional, in the event the regular area is filled, you can park in the new area. Entrance to the building from the new area is through the front door.

Boating safety tips given

Zach Lea of the Cooperative Extension Service, Sea Grant Advisory Program, reminds Hancock County boating devotees that weather conditions have great bearing on the safety of boating.

"To maintain safety while boating, two rules should be followed before setting out," Lea said.

"First, make a check of local weather and sea conditions. Second, listen to the latest radio weather forecast for this area."

"In addition to these two rules, boatmen should never venture out when warnings are in effect unless they are positive their boat can be safely navigated under conditions advised by the wind and sea forecasts. Warning displays at U.S. Coast Guard stations, yacht clubs, marinas, or other coastal points, point to extreme caution," he added.

To help prevent boating accidents, injuries, and property losses, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration provides up-to-date nautical charts and weather information on a year-round basis, says Lea.

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

TRIALS AS WELL AS TRIUMPHS are a part of living. One of the more common complaints of a great many people is that their lives are but a series of trials, hardships and troubles. If you wish to live without trials, you are wishing for a state of being only half a person - living half a life.

"Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: ...," says the Scriptures (1 Pet. 4:12).

Only in the storm does the ship realize the need of its anchor. It is the fury of the storm that tests the strength of the anchor.

Without trials you cannot estimate your own strength or capacity as one who has trusted Christ as "an anchor of the soul." Hardships is the native soil of manhood self-reliance. Every boy knows that a kite rises against the wind, not with the wind.

It is the heritage of humanity to have trials and tribulations. Opposition is often a help, rather than a hindrance.

It is so often in the storms of life that God speaks to His people. When the fury of discontent troubles our heart most is a good time to listen intently for the still small voice of God.

"But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary... Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid" (Matt. 14:24-27).

On the wall in my study hangs a little plaque; given me some years ago by a dear friend, which says:

"It's easy to be pleasant when life goes by with a song, but the man worthwhile is the man who can smile when everything else goes wrong." - I.S. Walker

PRC on road this week

Pearl River College's Wildcats are back on the winning track during an up and down season.

Last week the Cats came from behind twice to take a 27-23 Homecoming win over East Central's Warriors and post a 4-3 overall record.

This Thursday night the Wildcats will be on the road at Goodman for a mid-week interdivisional game against the Holmes Bulldogs. The Bulldogs are 2-5 but according to PRC head coach J. C. Arban they have a fine football team.

"They throw the football a lot," Arban said, "and that's something we have had a few problems with this fall." The Bulldogs also use their running backs to advantage on pass plays. They block real well and are use to dump passes off too.

"We are not going to have an easy night," Arban warned, "it's on Thursday and our band is not going and it will of course be on their campus - we'll be at a disadvantage."

It took the Wildcats a while to get going in their Homecoming bout with East Central last week. In fact the Warriors marched down the field and scored on their very first possession of the night.

"We ran hard and blocked good last week," Arban said, "but at times we didn't read the defensive assignments."

difficult to control. We're fingered "non-controlled, late night parties," stretching into the "wee hours of the morning," as being the suspect point of origination for many of the vandals involved.

The north end of Stennis Field is also in line for a soil conservation program, to contain erosion along approaches to the north and south side of Texas Flat.

We're said the program, which gained the consent of supervisors, would cost some $125,000, with the county making an in-kind donation of equipment and labor for its share of the cost. The balance of the funding, should its application be approved, will be made by the Soil Conservation Service.

The job will entail construction of approximately seven drop-inlet structures and stabilization of embankments to contain the water on its quick drop to the Jourdan River.

We're indicated that in halting erosion, the commission would also eliminate one of the sources of muddy water presently being reported by river environmentalists.

Alton A. Kellar, president, Hancock County Board of Supervisors, told the port director that in his opinion the commission and the county would fare better if they put a firm of engineers under contract instead of continually ween a rock and a hard place when state judges order prisoner transfer in the face of a federal court order which bars additional prisoners at Parchman until population there is reduced.

Under current conditions, the sheriff said, the Hancock County jail built in the 1930's to accommodate ten to 15 inmates is totally inadequate.

The federal court order affecting Parchman calls for 15 square feet of living space for each inmate.

The sheriff said conditions in the local jail allow only for some 12 feet of space for each prisoner.

We're operating under conditions that are both crowded and a danger to the community," the sheriff said. He noted that county jails throughout the state are encountering problems as a result of the federal court order affecting Parchman.

In addition to four persons serving county jail terms and four awaiting transfer to Parchman, the sheriff said, nine Hancock County prisoners awaiting transfer to Parchman are being held in other jails as far away as Alabama.

The sheriff said he has three prisoners in the Harrison County jail at Mobile, Ala.

coming before the board with never ending requests for part-payments on various projects.

The Kellar statements followed a request for payment to Advanced Developments, Inc., of $2700 for updating plans and specifications and contract documents concerning their Economic Development Administration project at Stennis.

Kellar said, "Not reflecting on the engineers involved, I am fed up with this sort of thing, and I suggest you get someone under contract."

We're said they remained optimistic that the project will be forthcoming in which case the engineering costs will be reimbursed to a great degree.

James Traverca, supervisor for Beat 5, repeated the statement he made on a former occasion when the issue was before the board, to the effect that in his opinion they did not produce then they should not get paid.

Here Traverca referred to the practice followed by many engineering firms of donating their services on the basis that they would receive the engineering contract should the entity concerned be successful in obtaining full funding.

We're further qualified the request by stating that the board was moving on all fronts, thus incurring more costs but achieving more results.

The population at the local jail in Bay St. Louis soars as high as 30 during some weekends, the sheriff reported.

"We don't have the manpower to be transporting prisoners back and forth from Hancock General Hospital and guarding them while they are there," the sheriff complained.

"Parchman has all the proper facilities and a lot more space than we have, no matter how crowded they are," the sheriff lamented.

Ladner said he sees no signs of relief from jail problems as long as local authorities' hands are tied by federal injunction.

United Way review (6)

RSVP - An invitation to help

By THERESA JAMES

Director, RSVP

To understand RSVP better, think of the letters separately:

R - for retired, which includes those who have left the 9 to 5 work arena and now have time on their hands;

S - for senior, as the volunteer must be 60 years of age or over;

V - for volunteer, or one who gives voluntarily of his time, with no expectation of reward;

P - for program, which is the method by which it is all put together.

RSVP provides volunteers to non-profit agencies in Hancock County. The place where volunteers serve is called a "station."

There are 25 stations utilizing volunteers either on a daily or occasional basis. They are: American Red Cross, American Cancer Society, Bay-Waveland-Hancock County Civil Defense, Bay-Waveland-Hancock County Headstart Program, Hancock County Home, Hancock County Public Library, Humane Society, Hancock County United Way, Hancock County Welfare Dept., Hancock General Hospital Women's Auxiliary, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, RSVP, Information and Referral, Nutrition, Recreation, Telephone Reassurance, Spend the Day Center, Buccaneer Park, Waveland Hospitality Booth, Waveland Civic Center.

Many senior citizens who have retired are no longer able to drive themselves and have no one willing to transport them to their volunteer station. This is where RSVP comes in. Volunteering should cost a person nothing, so the RSVP station wagon is available to anyone needing transportation. The only restriction on this service is that it be provided only to those who are enrolled in this program.

And the transportation can only be offered to and from their place of assignment. Thus, one of the most difficult obstacles is overcome.

A person can volunteer for as many hours as is necessary to complete the assignment. There are many who have found that volunteering more than once a week has helped them make new friends, it has also broadened their social life. But, most of all, they have found that in giving what they have the most of time - has enriched their lives much more than they ever dreamed of. They have experienced the joy that comes from helping someone more needy than themselves. Some of the volunteers who have been busy in nursing homes or visiting the homebound in their own homes leave there with a feeling of having done something "useful." Being needed and appreciated is food for the soul and keeps many a senior citizen going and doing long after others who only stay home and complain about their ills, have resigned themselves to a lonely and hopeless future.

Another service is Telephone Reassurance, whereby a volunteer calls someone who lives alone every day at a specified time. If the person being called does not answer, then the caller has another number of either a neighbor or relative who will investigate to see if there is anything wrong. This is most important for one living alone, since help can be sent if needed.

The RSVP receives calls from non-profit agencies or "stations" to fill special needs. Some such services are: Civil Defense and Chamber of Commerce offices who are on a limited budget and cannot hire someone to answer the phone when the regular secretaries are out for some reason. RSVP can supply a volunteer to temporarily fill in for the absent secretary.

There are also regular duties that volunteers perform. One such example is in the Nutrition department of the Senior Citizens Center. It takes several volunteers each day, five days a week to serve lunch to the 65 people who eat at the center each day. These volunteers have their special day for serving and they are most reliable. The only reason that any of these faithful volunteers will not arrive for duty is usually because of illness. Sometimes, that doesn't even stop them. They are among the most conscientious and loyal people on earth. The volunteers who deliver meals are most dependable and realize how important it is that they appear for this needed service. The Hospitality Booth on Highway 90 is manned by volunteers seven days a week, with two volunteers in the morning and afternoon. If they cannot serve on their appointed day, they can always be counted on to call and report. In that way, a substitute can then be found.

We don't usually give enough credit to those volunteers who go about their duties quietly but regularly, but once a year RSVP does honor them with an Awards luncheon. This is the highlight of the year because it is one way in which the community can say "thank you."

The RSVP office is located in the Valens C. Jones Center and has a staff of three: Director, Theresa D. James, Ass't. Director, Renee Carver, and Driver, Charles Johnson. Volunteers also help in the office. RSVP is a part of ACTION, with 70 percent of the budget provided by federal funds and 30 percent local funds. The United Way is the grantee and also supports this agency with cash funds. It is only with the help and support of local governments and United Way that RSVP is able to function. Without the aid from them, this very worthwhile service would not be available to the citizens of Hancock.

Washington Report

ON TAX CREDITS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION
America's middle class, which already bears the brunt of the country's tax load, is caught in an unrealistic hammerlock by the apparent reluctance of the U.S. House of Representatives to enact legislation giving federal income tax credits for higher education.

for four or the past five Congresses. The House last month did express its support for the concept while voting on the Second Concurrent Budget Resolution, and the vote was 311 to 76 in support.

Parents with children in this country's colleges and universities can attest to the high cost of education these days. For example, tuition costs alone rose by 57.2 percent nationally between 1970 and 1977, according to estimates of the House Education and Labor Committee.

The truth of the matter is that higher education is rapidly - if it hasn't already - becoming unaffordable for the majority of middle class Americans. Schools are being forced to increase tuition and fees while students go begging for more education.

The Stennis report

Senator John C. Stennis today endorsed a lower minimum wage for workers aged 16-19 for the first six months on the job to "encourage employers to hire these young workers and train them for better jobs."

for a great many people who need and desire employment very badly, but who find themselves priced out of the market."

Stennis stressed during his Senate speech that it is important for young people to be able to obtain jobs in order "to train them in the ideals of pride in self support and thereby gain self respect."

Stennis strongly endorsed provisions to safeguard against abuses of the lower minimum wage proposal. The proposal would allow payment of the lower minimum wage only during the first six months of employment and impose a penalty on employers who terminate a youth's employment to hire other youths in their place in order to take continuous advantage of the lower minimum wage.

Stennis stated that under the existing minimum wage provisions "the youth who ventures into the job market finds himself competing on unequal terms" when an employer can often hire a more experienced and mature worker at the same hourly wage.

Urging Senate passage of the proposal, Stennis said it would "prevent the deterioration of an already bad situation."

East Central will be celebrating Homecoming and the Pirates will get a visit from East Central. Friday night is show our support of our teams by attending one of these games.

Friday night we could break every attendance record for this stadium. The Hawk's Roost stadium and the Pirate's stadium are all on the same night. All we have to do is go and see our favorite team play.

Also, by calling your friends and neighbors and asking them to join you and your family.

It's only two hours, just think of how many hours the players practice for those two hours each Friday night for about six weeks.

Where can you go and only spend a couple bucks and get two hours of clean and wholesome entertainment.

We are sure that coaches Billy Rhodes, Bill Poole, Irvin and Bob Rogers will all appreciate your attendance and support Friday night.

At the Tiger Rock-A-Chaws, Hawks, and Pirates we wish you the best.

Coaches, assistant coaches, athletic directors, players, team managers, school bands, cheerleaders, pep squads, homecoming queens and courts, we say thanks for your contribution to the sport.

Coaches, who stick with their team throughout thick or thin, our hearts are to you.

We will be there Friday night. Will you?

Reassessment...

Rutherford, Jr., clerk, Blackenship had provided a list of alternate dates he would be available, indicating the supervisors should once again adjust their schedule to comply with his movements.

Alton A. Kellar, president, instead told Rutherford to tell the tax commission representative they would be open to hear his proposals at their second meeting in November.

It was at this point Heitzmann called for the resolution stating that the "issue was growing hot..." and he did not want to be sued (for non-compliance).

In a separate matter, Mrs. Carrie Williams appeared before the supervisors concerning the problem of hunting dogs chasing foxes through the Lakeshore area woods at night.

Coupled to the almost constant baying and barking of the hounds, Mrs. Williams claimed, is the added annoyance of local dogs "picking up..." the racket by adding their quota of barks and howls.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Johnson said he had sent cars out to the scene on three separate occasions in answer to Mrs. Williams' phone calls but the officers had been unable to locate the hunters.

A call to Jackson had revealed charges could be laid against the hunters (providing they can be found) of disturbing the peace.

The question of enforcement also arose concerning a sought and approved motion by Supervisor Oscar Peterson of Beat 3, limiting the load limit on the Standard-Dedeaux Road to 10 tons.

Peterson said truckers hauling gravel and the like to Dupont were using the Standard Road instead of travelling State Highway 603, in an effort to cut a few miles of their route.

"I do not have the money to fix this road after these trucks have torn it up," Peterson said, who claimed many of the trucks were overloaded even for the state highways.

He called on Sheriff Sylvan Ladner to put a deputy on patrol along the route to stop the trucks and issue citations.

Ladner responded that with as few deputies as he has he could not afford to assign one strictly to that task.

Peterson did not pursue the matter further but gave indication it had not been shelved and that the issue remained current.

The cost of arresting hogs and keeping them until collected by the owner formed another chapter in the long dispute between duties of the ranger, the assistant ranger, and the sheriff.

Board Attorney Sam Favre is to supply Ladner with a copy of the law, the interpretation of such being the seeming cause of the internal county dispute.

Heitzmann also broached the subject of auto tag costs to totally disabled veterans (DAV), saying that his understanding of the law was that to qualify for the tax exempt plate, the veteran had to have sustained a total disablement that was one hundred percent service connected.

Favre agreed with the tax assessor saying that such was also his understanding of the law.

Controversy had apparently arisen over an opinion issued by the state service officer which, according to Heitzmann, varied in this understanding.

DuPont...

The Bay and its witnesses.

DuPont got its first opportunity for rebuttal this week, and offered testimony to show the company's planned methods of disposal are safer, cheaper and more reliable than other methods considered.

Stone, in the clearest public indication thus far that he favors affirming the commission's 1975 issuance of the permit, said "...we're convinced this is not going to be a violation of the law."

Stone has previously stated publicly he does not believe Save The Bay has proved its case against DuPont.

Save The Bay this week presented results of a new, four-day test of the effects of a simulated DuPont effluent on brown shrimp.

A physiologist from Gulf Coast Research Laboratory at Long Beach testified some of the shrimp used in the test had died.

But the scientist, Dr. A. Venkatarahamias, was reluctant to attribute the shrimp mortality to the effluent. Some of the shrimp were in a "delicate" condition and others developed disease he would not link directly to the effluent, he testified.

Most of DuPont's testimony this week was aimed at refuting arguments which have been raised against the company's process, its deep well injection method and its plans to discharge treated wastes into Bay St. Louis.

DuPont consulting geologist Charles Sherman said the plant will use a maximum of about 2,800 gallons of water per minute when in operation.

He said withdrawal of that much water from underground would have only a "minimal impact" on general domestic and municipal water supplies which draw from different aquifers than those DuPont will be using.

Sherman said the Coast area has had declining pressure in its artesian wells for many years, but that DuPont "should not cause this to accelerate."

The DuPont official also said the underground well carrying toxic wastes would not cause earthquakes.

"Earth tremors will pass through the area with no detrimental effects on the well," he said, adding, "Sediment rocks in the DeLisle area are relatively young and are flexible enough to absorb earth tremors without any effect on the well."

received the approval of the supervisors to enter into an option to purchase agreement with L.K. Moore, Jr., and Atlas Powder Co., for the purchase of 60 acres of land at the port.

The land is to cost Atlas some $225,000, let on a 90 day option at $6,375, with two additional like periods permitted.

The company intends to utilize the local facility as a transshipment point for chemicals and substances moving to South America and will employ road, rail, and mini-ships for the purpose.

Initial personnel employment is expected to be in the neighborhood of 15 persons, with 20-25 persons at peak periods.

A waiver of the port's development covenants was required to permit this low density of employment per acquired acres.

The supervisors also agreed to enter into a memorandum of agreement with the company for the issuance of revenue bonds in an amount not to exceed $500,000.

McCulloch provided council with a cost breakdown showing that of these amounts a total of $142,400 would have to come from local funds, with the balance being advanced by the Educational Finance Commission (EFC), should that group be successful in selling its bonds this fall.

To repay the local funding, the superintendent asked council to consider floating a short term loan in the amount of $150,000 to be repaid over a five year period.

To achieve this repayment, he asked for an additional half mill to be added to his present short term note millage. Such addition be made after the turn of the year.

Council balked at this step however stating instead they desired to investigate the requirements of EFC, and study the amount of money being generated by the existing levy both on long and short term notes.

Should sufficient income be generated from the millage, now at a maximum 29 for the system, then it would be a question of reallocation within the existing structure council claimed.

In a separate item, Charles H. Hill, Burk and Associates, presented council with preliminary drawings of the proposed US-90 overpass at Dunbar. He is to return this week with additional plans showing an alternative design form following a complaint by Wagner that he did not remember approving provisional plans having non-turning ramps.

He said he didn't want council to get into a posture of having to end up spending money "...on something that will be a nightmare they would have to live with the rest of their lives."

Facing a time limit on the spending of Economic Development Administration (EDA) funds, council is to meet again for the setting of bid dates and the study of alternate designs.

Hill also put plans before the group covering a city-wide sewer system.

Here, the cost at today's prices, to completely equip all areas of the city with a complete sewer system was estimated at $3,821,834.

No action was taken by council on the advisory, pending the visit of an inspection team from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

In a separate matter, council agreed to a tentative lease between the city and the Bay Jaycees regarding the property known as the old Webb School on Second Ave.

The Jaycees are to receive a 10-year lease and utilize the structure for a youth center and civic meeting place.

Neighbors in the area are seemingly of two minds regarding the center, which will not be allowed to hold dances, with at least one complaining about the already short parking space available to residents.

The center is to close at least one half hour before curfew and the property is to revert to the city immediately the Jaycees cease to utilize it for its intended purpose.

Halloween safety tips for children outlined

Parents in Hancock, Harrison, and Pearl River Counties should begin to consider safety precautions to be taken to make Halloween this year a safe and happy event for their children.

"Making certain youngsters arrive home safely after trick-or-treating is utmost in parents' minds," Allen Larson, safety advisor for RJR Foods, Inc., says. "By following a few simple safety rules, guardians need not worry," he added.

- Map out a route of familiar homes. Make certain children follow the plan.
- Send youngsters out in groups of three or more. Young children should be accompanied by an adult.
- Encourage children to trick-or-treat during daylight. After dark give each child a flashlight.
- Apply reflective tape to front, back and sides of costumes and to treat bags.
- Make a firm rule; no eating until children get home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shiyon of Bay St. Louis, MS, are the parents of a third son, fourth child, Tony Dwayne, born Oct. 11, 1977 at Lucius Olen Crosby Memorial Hospital, Piquette, MS.

Mrs. Shiyon is the former Mary Adams, of Denver, Col., paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shiyon of Kiln.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Colley, Jr., of Metairie, La., announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Kelley Theresa, Sept. 29 at Hotel Dieu, New Orleans. She weighed six pounds, 11 ounces.

Mrs. Colley is the former Terri Plata, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Plata of Metairie, La. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Colley Sr. of Waveland. Paternal great-grandparents are Mrs. Marie B. Keller, Metairie, and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Colley, Fort Smith, Ark. Michael Plata of New Orleans is the maternal great-grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Dubulson of Pass Christian announce the birth of their first child, a son, Herbert Theodore, Jr., born Oct. 18 at 1:00 p.m. at Gulfport Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed 9 lbs. 5 oz.

Mrs. Dubulson is the former Patsy Palantotto of Pass Christian. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dubulson of Pineville. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Dubulson, Jr., of Pass Christian. Mrs. Barbara Dubulson is the maternal great-grandmother.

Sort treats, being wary of homemade goodies. A safe choice is commercial candy in its original wrapper.

There also are a few ways of making bright and safe Halloween costumes, according to Larson. He suggests making certain that costumes fit well everywhere; no dragging around ankles, sloping hats or dangling sleeves.

"Choose light colors for costumes to increase chances of the children being seen in the dark," Larson added. "Light costumes with the application of reflective tape to the costume and treat bag help illuminate the child."

He said, too, that masks should be avoided because they may interfere with vision. Use makeup instead.

Dual cakes mark dual birthdays

Pope, Drew Scaife, Karen Slocum, Linda Danita, and Julie Sclanna, Miss Udell Favre, Mrs. John Scaife, Mrs. Bernard Slocum, Mrs. Judy Varborough, Mrs. Charles Sclanna and Albert Becker.

New book review

City-County Public Library

by Prima Wusnach

The following books have been received by the Hancock County Library System and can be obtained through City-County Library; Waveland Library; Kiln Library; or the Hancock County Bookmobile.

Mothers, Daughters, a novel by Carolyn See. A witty, sometimes withering novel of marriage and divorce and the way we live today. Mothers, Daughters is the story of middle-aged men and women caught in a youth culture from which they are excluded by the baggage of their lives. The Judas Squad, by James N. Rowe. A crack team of renegade U.S. ex-soldiers posing as fanatic terrorists have seized control of the Bartonville "Fast-Breeder Reactor," a nuclear power plant thirty-two miles northwest of Pittsburgh. Their threat is to destroy the plant and release a deadly radioactive cloud over Pittsburgh and much of Pennsylvania. Their demand is $50,000,000 and safe passage out of the United States. Their real mission is to steal one ton of weapons-grade Plutonium produced by the plant and to turn it over to a black market arms cartel that would sell it to Third World nations hungry for nuclear weapons. If this Judas squad succeeds in its mission the world's power structure will be drastically altered.

The Art of Adoption by Linda Cannon Burgess. In twenty years of adoption work, Ms. Burgess was responsible for over 900 adoptions. The book is based on the author's interviews in 45 homes where 146 children she had placed were growing up.

In talking with the children and their parents, Ms. Burgess learned what adoption really means. Her book reveals the questions adopted children ask and how their parents answer them; the special problems that society, friends, relatives, schools and the media impose on them; the complications for a child growing up without a known birth heritage, and the difficulties parents have raising such children.

Shadows on the Tor, a novel by Susan Brand. When Anna Trevor, a beautiful young American sculptress, is offered a cottage near a picturesque Scottish village she realizes that this may be exactly the peaceful setting she needs to recover from a disastrous love affair. Upon arriving at the cottage, Anna meets fellow artist Jamie Drummond. Powerfully drawn to him; Anna is increasingly uneasy about the mysterious events shrouding both Jamie's past and his present. Though fearful that what she discovers may destroy their future together, Anna knows that she must learn the truth behind the strange death of Jamie's wife and the frightening influence that a beautiful heiress holds over him.

"It is always with the best intentions that the worst work is done." Oscar Wilde
"The real value of love is the increased general vitality it produces." Paul Valery

The Peoples Business

Mississippi is a state blessed with great natural beauty. Traveling down the Natchez Trace or through the red clay hills covered with kudzu, a visitor can't help but be stunned by the bright colors and panoramic scenes.

We have managed to preserve much of the state's natural splendor. Certainly, we have been more successful than some other states, where beauty is the exception rather than the rule.

But, we must be careful to preserve that beauty. Each Mississippian must do his part to see that our children, and our children's children, can enjoy the benefits of Mississippi's natural wonders.

We must not permit litter to become a major problem in Mississippi. We can now travel down highways and roads, and see evidence of those who are not concerned, as evidenced by empty bottles and cans, candy wrappers, and cigarette wrappers.

Mississippi's laws dealing with those who litter should be enforced so that those who do this ugly work should have to pay a penalty.

This state has a heritage of beauty well worth preserving. Every Mississippian should recognize this tradition and see that it survives for the generations to come.

The Pre-Arranging and Pre-Financing of Funerals

Why Pre-Arrange a Funeral

There are many different reasons for pre-arranging a funeral. Some persons, especially those who are alone in the world, may want the assurance of a funeral and burial which meet their personal beliefs, standards or life-style. Others feel a responsibility to assist survivors by arranging approximate funeral and burial cost guidelines. Still others have moved to distant places, or maintain both summer and winter residences. They may want to make sure that certain recommendations are heeded as to where the funeral and burial or other final disposition will take place. Actually, there are almost as many explanations for pre-arranging funerals as there are people requesting them.

Advantages or disadvantages of funeral pre-arrangements depend upon the individual circumstances and cannot be generalized. What may be satisfying for some could be impractical for others.

Pre-arranging a funeral is often a tentative plan contingent upon the belief that circumstances will remain relatively stable during the remaining lifetime of the pre-arranger and of those whom he or she involves in the pre-arrangements.

For Fall-winter season

Safety is area Boy Scout topic

Fall and winter activities are beginning in the Cub Scout packs, Scout troops, and Explorer posts of the New Orleans Area Council, Boy Scouts of America - and with them comes a renewed emphasis on safety.

Hancock County scouting activities are under the auspices of the New Orleans Area Council.

"We in Scouting-USA believe that intelligent discipline is the individual's basic defense throughout his life," said Gerald Villars, Director of Support Services. "That's why we stress a boy's personal code of conduct to assure safety in all Scouting activities."

Scouting, Villars declared, has been a leader in the health and safety field since its birth in 1910. An example, he said, is the safe swim defense plan set up by Scouting more than 40 years ago that has been a model protective method ever since.

"Intelligent discipline is based on strict but fair supervision," Villars explained. "A leader must communicate the reasons for rules and procedure to gain their full acceptance. When boys fully understand their purpose, they are likely to conform."

The aim is to gain the boy's understanding and acceptance of a personal code of conduct, Villars said, and the vitality of his personal code will depend on the strength of a self-imposed discipline.

"Self-discipline is an essential ingredient in character development," Villars said. "Not only is it the basic defense against potential hazards of adventurous activity, it is also the basis of right decisions for healthful living and moral conduct."

Diamondh'd to host land, sea, air show

By Edgar Perez
Skydivers, helicopter rides, live music and dancing are just a few of the highlights of the forthcoming Diamondhead Land, Sea and Air Show slated for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 28-30.

Some 25 exhibitors from the Gulf Coast, central Mississippi and New Orleans will display their latest offerings of recreational vehicles, boats and airplanes at the show, according to Billie Jean Barger of the Diamondhead Marina.

Other booths will include showings of seascape art, nautical jewelry, custom van interiors, and special displays by the Mississippi National Guard and the State Water Safety Commission.

Daily show hours are to be from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Boating accessories and other merchandise will be offered daily as entrance prizes. Sunday door prize will be $500 in one-dollar bills.

An adult admission ticket for $2.50 will be good for all three days. Children will be admitted free.

Boat displays will include sailboats as well as inboard and outboard powered fishing boats. A day-long shrimp boil is planned Friday, Oct. 28, with music by live orchestra beginning at 9 p.m.

Saturday, Oct. 29, will be country-western day featuring red beans and rice all day and square dancers at 6 p.m. Sunday's festivities, in addition to the 4 p.m. drawing, will include a menu of gumbo and BBQ chicken and more live entertainment.

Further information about the three-day event may be obtained by calling 255-7055.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

by DIDDY QUINLAN

Last weekend was a great camping weekend! At Buccaneer we had a group of campers who came from Litcher, La. to see their football team play Harrison North Central. It always seems that our campers from south Louisiana know how to enjoy themselves! And we enjoy having them.

Two story hours were the highlight of our program for the younger set, while teenagers and adults enjoyed a tennis tournament. The 11-15 age bracket was won by L.J. Boudouin, 13, of Luling, La. with Phil Hall, 14, of Harvey, La. taking second place. George Maier took first and Bob Sarradet placed second in the 16 and over age bracket. They are both of Metairie, La. Now, I'd like to see some Mississippians capture some of these titles. Remember, our activities are free to local residents!

Speaking of local residents—two R.S.V.P. volunteers, Ms. Wilma Miller and Ms. Eva Manier! will begin teaching classes in the arrangement of natural and dried materials at Buccaneer Park. These classes will include information on different types of plants, how they are used in arrangements, and how they can be transplanted and cared for. This class will be conducted in a manner congruent to the conservation policy of the Mississippi Park Commission. Also in accordance with our policy, there will be no registration or instructor's fee. The only charge to participants will be the cost of materials; and since most of these will be found in the natural environments, costs are expected to be low.

An orientation meeting is planned for Friday, Nov. 11 at 9:30 a.m. in order to determine what type of projects the course will include. Classes are scheduled every other Friday at 9:30 a.m. beginning Dec. 2. In Buccaneer's recreation hall. For those parents' with preschool age children, we'll have activities to keep the young entertained and out of their parents' hair! Halloween weekend activities in the planning stages include: a pirate's costume contest; an apple bobbing; a jack-o-lantern carving contest; a bonfire on the beach with ghost stories; and trick-or-treating from trailer to trailer. These are planned for the weekend of Oct. 29-30. Everyone is invited!

Medical Assistants convention

Helen Donohoo, CMA - Woman's Clinic, Mary Ellen Ladner, D. Joseph H. Nodrift, Diamondhead; Ina Foley, Dr. E. N. Throop, Gulfport; and Thelma Van Cloostee-EENT Hospital Gulfport, medical assistants are attending the 21st Annual Meeting of the Association of Medical Assistants, Oct. 17-22, at the Hotel St. Francis, San Francisco. Approximately 1,000 medical assistants, educators, students, physicians and other interested individuals will participate in a week of education programs, workshops and other activities under the general theme, "AAMA: Golden Gate to Achievement."

Ellisabeth Kubler-Ross, M.D., of Chicago, author of "On Death and Dying," heads a stellar list of program speakers. On Thursday, October 20, Dr. Kubler-Ross, psychiatrist and international consultant in the care of dying patients and their families, will discuss problems facing health professionals who deal with the terminally ill.

Battle lines drawn, Tigers, Rocks to clash

Bay Sr. High

TIGERS

Tigers in this corner

Coach Billy Rhodes said Monday, "The Tigers were going to play fundamental football, try and cut down on mistakes, it will be an emotional game."

The Bay High Tigers will be looking for their second victory of the season when they tangle with the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws Friday night. "The team spirit is good, our team has been waiting for this game all year. The team is looking forward to playing a hard clean contest," stated Rhodes.

Coach Rhodes said that his team was in good shape with the exception of Jerry Townsend, and Roy Shubert with ankle problems, neither will see any action. Sonny Palode, asthma problems, and James Coe, a hip pointer, are doubtful performers. Rhodes further stated, "There is a real good relationship between the two schools, and that a good clean game would benefit everyone."

The team that makes the fewest mistakes will win the game."

Last week the Tigers fell victims to Vancleave 6-1 for the season and they played a good game, according to Rhodes it was the best team his Tigers have faced this season.

Coach Rhodes gave these as the offensive line probable starters: Hewitt Parson, C; Leroy Peterson, Jr., G; Daniel Edwards, G; Jimmy Craig, T; Paige Hitchcock, T; Scott Thomas, TE; Chuck Benigno, SE; Swayne LaFontaine, QB; John Seiley, FB; Larry Jackson, RB; and Tim Delcuze, WR.

Their defensive team will be: Rod Stieffell, nose guard; Socrates Ladner and Danny Bourgeois, tackles; Jimmy Craig and Tim Gilmore, ends; Daniel Edwards and John Seiley, linebackers; Ronald Collins and Bruce Cain, cornerbacks; and Tim Delcuze and Larry Jackson, safeties.

Kick-off 7:30 p.m. at Tiger Stadium

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay High Tigers will play host tomorrow night to the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws, kick-off is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Tiger stadium.

The game will be for the City of Bay St. Louis championship.

Coaches Billy Rhodes and Bill Poole won't have much to do in order to get their teams up for this cross city rivalry. It is the "game of the year", that the players all look forward to, and team records can be drop kicked out of the end zone.

Both the Tigers and Rocks are hungry for a win, Bay High is 1-6 and Stanislaus is 2-3-1 for the season. The Tigers and Rock-A-Chaws both will be out to stop a losing streak. The Tigers have lost the last six and the Rocks the last three.

Players from both teams are known to each other and a clean hard fought game is expected by the coaches.

An overflow crowd is expected by kick-off time, the largest crowd to probably see a game in Hancock County this year should be on hand.

St. Stanislaus

Chaws

Rocks in this corner

St. Stanislaus coach Bill Poole stated Monday, "The Rocks will be up for the game with the Tigers Friday night, we have a much better team then our record shows."

The Rock-A-Chaws will be trying to get their team back on the winning track Friday night against the Bay High Tigers. The Rocks after the first three games of the season were 2-0-1, but have fallen victim to a defeat for the past three weeks.

"The Rocks, as a team are doing a real good job, our loss last week should have been a victory, we out played St. Martin as the statistics were heavily in our favor," stated coach Poole.

St. Stanislaus, like Bay High were both beaten 50 points on consecutive weekends by conference leader d'Iberville, and both coach Poole and Rhodes want to forget about that particular game. Last week against St. Martin, tailback Bill Kergosien had his best game of the season rambling for 139 yards. Coach Poole was well pleased with his performance.

Coach Poole said that cornerback Todd Evans won't play at all, Kim Johnson is still out, Greg Hammer their fullback is a doubtful performer because of an injury against Hancock North Central.

Coach Poole gave the following as probably starting offensive players: Bruce Morreale, C; Mike Curet and Glen Logan, guards; Gene Rogers and Daniel Handschoe, tackles; Fred Keel, TE; three alternating are: Roger Ervin, David Murtagh and Tommy Lotz at other tight end; Peter Bernheim, QB; Bill Kergosien, TB; Scott Senner, FB; and Jay Rousseau, FB.

Win homecoming

PRJC wildcats claw warriors

Pearl River Junior College came from behind twice here Saturday night to defeat the East Central Warriors, 27-23, to make wildcat Homecoming

1977 a very successful day. East Central received the kickoff and marched, behind the running of Robert Hardy, 63 yards that took a dozen plays and about six minutes. Hardy did the honors, taking it in from the six. The point after attempt was blocked by Jeff January.

VALUABLE YARDAGE - Five yards of valuable real estate is picked up here by John Moss for St. Clare's Warriors in the team's successful struggle against St. James of Gulfport for the Gulf Coast Conference Championship Saturday. The Warriors hold the conference title after a 7-6 win over St. James.

MSU and USM tangle Saturday

Mississippi State and University of Southern Mississippi clash at Scott Field Saturday at 1:30 p.m. as a highlight of MSU's homecoming before a capacity crowd of 35,000.

At mid-week all sideline seats were gone and only a limited number of end zone tickets remained on sale. The Bulldogs' final four games against Alabama, Auburn, LSU and Ole Miss are also sold out.

Southern, coached by former MSU captain Bobby Collins, enters Saturday's game with a 4-3 record. The Golden Eagles are fresh from an exciting 28-26 win over University of Hawaii.

Included among the USM victims have been a pair of Southeastern Conference teams, Auburn (24-13) and Ole Miss (27-19).

Mississippi State, plagued by injury, dropped a 21-13 decision to Memphis State at Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium last Saturday night, the Bulldogs second consecutive loss.

Coach Bob Tyler's eager Bulldogs, anxious to return to the win column, carry a 3-3 record into the 14th meeting of the teams. State holds the upper hand, 10-2-1.

Pine, La. on Homecoming menu

Hawks seeks school's winningest record

The most games a Hawk football team has won in a season is six, once when, now county superintendent, Terrell Randolph, was coach and last season for coach Irvin Favre.

Coach Favre said yesterday, "This game is very important for my team to win. A win would give the Hawks the best season in football ever, and everyone likes to win Homecoming."

"Pine, La. is located a little outside of Bogalusa and they are both quick and fast."

"Pine runs a lot of multiple offense, everything but the wishbone," said Favre.

The Hawks have won six games already this season, they have the best record in the county with victories over Bay High and St. Stanislaus. "In our win over Pearl River Central last week, we executed on defense and offense better than we did all year - everybody doing what they were to do," said Favre.

The Hawks have only a few bruises for the Homecoming tilt, everybody should be ready to play by game time Coach Favre reports.

Probably starting lineups for the Homecoming tilt are, offense - David Clark, E; Mark Ladner, TE; Richard Storey and Robert Shiyou, tackles; Tim Durham, G; Martin Curet and Harris

Frierson, alternating guards; Brad Ladner, C; Vincent

Adams, QB; Jesse Drainie,

FB; Greg Ladner and Dentist

Nelson, halfbacks.

Defense - Mark Ladner and

Gene Breazeale, ends;

Richard Storey and Robert

Bay boxers flex for ring, Saturday

By EDGAR PEREZ

The Hancock County Boxing Club will be host Saturday night to a 22-card tournament featuring fighters from seven clubs in two plates.

Scene of the action will be St. Augustine's Seminary gymnasium on US-90. First round bell is scheduled to sound at 7:30 p.m.

Mixing it up in the Southern AAU-sanctioned event will be young boxing hopefuls ranging in age from four years to 20.

Coach Harvey Mitchell of the Hancock County club said each match will consist of three two-minute rounds.

Visiting clubs at Saturday's event include Biloxi Boxing Club, Gulfport Boxing Club; and from Louisiana, Kenner Recreation Department Boxing Club, Marrero Boxing Club, Harahan Boxing Club and Delta Boxing Club of Metairie.

Admission fee will be $2, Mitchell said.

In other action, Mitchell reported, Hancock Club members William Borne, 14, and Mike Stringer, 16, lost close decisions in matches at Hattiesburg last Saturday.

Warden gives illegal trap

use warning

State Game Warden Patrick Toomey warns county residents that slot traps are being peddled in the state.

"State laws prohibit the use of slot traps of any type in all waters, and use of these traps are illegal."

"Possession of such illegal fish traps can mean a fine up to $500 plus up to six months in jail," Toomey said.

Toomey warns the public to buy these traps, and asks he be contacted with information concerning any sales attempts.

Coast Electric to hear Trent Lott

UNITED STATES SENATOR JAMES O. EASTLAND will be the honored speaker at the twelfth annual Membership Meeting of the Pearl River Valley Development Association, 12 noon, Oct. 26, Holiday Inn Downtown in Jackson. Senator Eastland has served in the United States Senate since 1941 and has shown a continued interest for our nation's resources through his legislative efforts. The senator is President Pro Tempore of the Senate, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee and ranking member of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

More than 4000 persons are expected to attend the annual general meeting of Coast Electric Power Association Saturday, at the Hancock County Fair Grounds. Business session will start at 1:10 p.m., to which Congressman Trent Lott will give the principal address. Entertainment will be furnished by Jerry Clower. Also appearing will be the Bibletones, a gospel group from Lumberton. During the business session members will hear reports from the officers and the manager and elect three directors. The association's main session will be held under a 'big top' circus tent, while smaller tents will house the first aid station, information center, and registration desk.

We pay tribute to the local men who have given a good part of their adult lives to boy scout activities. The Hancock County United Way.

A Kitchen That Says 'Welcome'

When it comes to kitchen decorating, Americans of today have rediscovered the sociability of yesteryear, in the roomy country kitchen. The friendly informality of this room is accentuated by bright calico curtains, the soft gleam of copper and pewter, and a no-wax cushioned vinyl floor that's as homey as a patch-work quilt.

Colonial Charm, a Congoleum Prestige floor covering inspired by an authentic 1840 quilt, offers easy maintenance plus warmth and comfort underfoot. And because it comes in 12 foot widths you can install it yourself - you can cover most rooms with just one piece without pattern matching or seaming.

Whether your home is an early-vintage like this one or a modern ranch-style, you can create a "country kitchen" just by selecting the right accessories and furnishings.

Make the room a center for family pastimes, with magazine racks and shelves for books, games, and needlework. Don't forget a good light over the dining table - the Colonial chandelier shown here lowers on an adjustable pulley to illuminate homework or Parcheesi.

Add lots of brightly colored cushions for comfortable seating, and you're ready to relax in a room no one will ever want to leave.

If you'd like a modern floor at old-fashioned savings by installing it yourself, find out how in Congoleum's free step-by-step "Easy Does It" booklet. Just write to Consumer Dept. A, Congoleum Corporation, 125 Belgrove Drive, Kearny, New Jersey 07032.

Gulf Coast CG get A&I pledge on Pilgrimage

By MRS. HARRY WOODBURY

Recording Secretary Mrs. Leewyn Hodges of the A&I Board, Tourism, spoke to the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs Friday, Oct. 7, at the Pass Christian Library. Mrs. Hodges' subject was "Pilgrimage" and what to do to make it bigger and better. The A&I Board has promised the Coast Pilgrimage more publicity than during past years. The Coast Pilgrimage is the only free one in the state and should attract more visitors from Mississippi and other states. It is hoped that more publicity will do just that.

Mayor Zack Anthony of Pass Christian gave a brief speech of welcome to the Council members. Mrs. Parnell McKay, president of the Pass Christian garden club, the host club for this meeting, also welcomed the Council to her city.

Several announcements of interest to the general public were made. Mrs. E.N. Throop, president of the Gulfport Area Council of Garden Clubs, issued an invitation to all to come to the flower show, 3-8 p.m., Dec. 1, at the Gulfport-Harrison County Library. The Beach Garden Society requested permission for the Biloxi Pilgrimage to cover two days with the first day, April 7, being a free day at Beauvoir for all who wish to attend. The second day will be the tour of homes and gardens. It was also announced that the Ocean Springs Community Center will be the location of the Ocean Springs Garden Club flower show on Oct. 26. Scrapbook winners for 1976-77 were named by the Council. Bay-Waveland took first place.

ordinator, while each was installed by Father Hayes and the parish gave their acceptance.

According to Sister Mary Cornelia, parish religious coordinator, religion classes for seventh and eighth grade students attending public school will be held every Thursday afternoon in parish hall.

Rev. Walker assigned to Waveland

The Rev. L.S. Walker is the new pastor of the Old Spanish Trail Baptist Church on US 90, Waveland. He succeeds Rev. Sammy Prince who recently resigned and moved back to Pearl River County.

A veteran pastor, evangelist, author and editor, he is a native of Pearl River County, and no stranger to the Bay-Waveland area. He served for some time as missionary-pastor for the former mission which is now Central Baptist Church on US 90 in Bay St. Louis. He writes a weekly newspaper column, "The Ole Pastor Says..." which appears in a large number of Mississippi newspapers.

Rev. Walker was for several years editor of the Mississippi Baptist, official journal of the Baptist Missionary Association of Mississippi. He also edited denominational publications in Alabama and Louisiana, and was twice elected president of the Baptist Missionary Association of America in 1958 and 1959. He was president of the B.M.A. of Mississippi Baptist Commission on History and also Director of Public Information for the churches of the B.M.A. of Mississippi.

Members and friends of Old Spanish Trail Baptist Church extend a cordial invitation to the public to the fellowship of their services.

Christmas bazaar set for Saturday

Clermont Handicrafters will hold a Christmas bazaar Saturday, Oct. 22, starting at 10 a.m. at A&P Super Market. Combining their ideas and talents, members have made a variety of novelty and practical gift suggestions for Christmas giving.

Mrs. Charles Dickinson, chairperson for the event, said some of the items included in the sale will be: crocheted purses, attractive pot holders, macramé hanging baskets, colorful wind chimes and potted plants.

We are thankful to the many mothers and workers who assist the girl scouts in the Hancock County United Way agency.
